of such a system should mostly be on exploration and not as much on repetition. Without unbound drops the long term viability is limited as well. Whenever people will have finished the campaign and / or got the loot they wanted, there's little incentive to come back. Overall Hunting is a great mechanic though and I had tons of fun figuring out locations. For some reason farming for rare spawns is also more intriguing than other repetitive tasks. I guess finding rare ones is the little success that keeps your motivation high although you pretty much just mindlessly cycle the map. What's your impression of the Hunting feature? Have you bested the King of Spines yet? Share your thoughts and experience in the comments below and visit the corresponding thread on our message board. Neverwinter UN:Blogged is always looking for writers to contribute to the blog. If you are an active player and search for a way to spread your opinions, analysis, diaries or reviews to more than 40,000 regular visitors, then don't hesitate and get in touch with us on our contact page or message board! We are currently especially looking for console and PVP content, but that's not exclusive. There is no frequency requirement, you post how often you want.
